Dr. Dan R. Ebener

Dan R. Ebener is a teacher, planner, author and speaker. He has been developing leaders for churches, businesses and communities since 1976.

Dan teaches strategic planning, team-building and leadership skills for the Master of Organizational Leadership program at St. Ambrose University. Dan also continues to work part-time as Director of Stewardship and Parish Planning for the Diocese of Davenport, Iowa.

Believing that professors should practice what they teach, Dan has provided consultation to over 150 organizations through Quad City Leadership Consulting, Inc. See www.QCLeadershipConsulting.com

Drawing from experience in the classroom and his consulting practice, Dan has presented to audiences in 43 states and 20 countries. He has authored many articles and two books on servant leadership and a recent book on strategic planning. See www.danebener.com

In his writing and speaking, Dan draws regularly from his international travels to 65 countries. Dan teaches a leadership class every summer in Croatia and often teaches also in Germany.

Dan was raised in Oglesby, Illinois in a family of ten children. His nine siblings are among his very best friends. Dan lives in Davenport, Iowa and has been married since 1977 to DeAnn Stone Ebener. They have two married sons, Josh with Paula and Zach with Nikki, and two grandchildren.
